Description:

This project is a great example of our ability to source windows of varying types, to meet the strict requirements for historical renovation. With the resurgence and redevelopment of these historically designated buildings, the need for partnering with a strong and knowledgeable window team is paramount. Weatherpanel isn't a one size fits all distributor. We have multiple window lines for you to choose from so we can fit the exact project aesthetic AND budget.

Whether the building is intended to be utilized for commercial, residential or mixed use, we can work with you from the design phase right through the final punch out, to make sure that your job runs smoothly. Of course, all while ensuring that you are as profitable as possible.

When you have the ability, you need the resources. Weatherpanel has the resources.
